6. Objective:

The primary objective of the program was to engage with and educate students of the Government Middle School, Chainpur, under the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan, a flagship initiative aimed at rural development, create a learning-friendly and joyful environment through academic interaction and extracurricular activities and encourage holistic development among school children by integrating academic knowledge with physical activities.

7. Detailed Description of the event:

On 16th April 2025, the Departments of Botany and History of St. Xavier's College, Mahuadanr conducted a community outreach program at Government Middle School, Chainpur, as part of the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan. A team of students and faculty members from both departments visited the school and conducted interactive learning sessions tailored to the students' academic level. The Botany Department students engaged the school children in basic science and plant life concepts, using practical demonstrations and nature-based examples. Meanwhile, the History Department students created an interactive session on local and history to instill a sense of heritage and curiosity among the young minds. In addition to the academic component, fun and inclusive games were organized for boys and girls, promoting teamwork, coordination, and sportsmanship. The event was filled with laughter, learning, and positive engagement. To encourage participation and express appreciation, water bottles were gifted to the school children, ensuring a message of sustainability and health. Moreover, chocolates were distributed, adding joy to the event and making the day memorable for the children. The school staff extended their gratitude and appreciated the efforts of the college students and faculty.

The event began with a warm welcome and introductory remarks by Assistant Professor Subodh Minj, who emphasized the growing importance of sustainable agricultural practices and the key role educational institutions play in promoting them. This was followed by an informative presentation by Assistant Professor Manisha Baxla, who explained the adverse effects of chemical fertilizers on soil health, human health, and the environment.

A key highlight of the program was the enthusiastic involvement of students from the Botany and History departments, who demonstrated various organic composting methods:

- Priti Toppo explained the process and benefits of pit composting.
- Engil Minj gave insights into vermicomposting, using earthworms to break down organic matter.
- Amisha Kujur discussed green composting, using plant waste and kitchen scraps.
- Anamika Minj described farmyard composting, utilizing animal dung and farm residues.
- Tara presented the NADEP composting method, a structured and large-scale technique using brick tanks.

Overall, the program was well-received, with farmers expressing enthusiasm for future initiatives and a commitment to adopting organic composting techniques in their agricultural practices.

8. Outcome:

The awareness program at Chainpur, Mahuadarn, yielded positive results. Farmers learned about the harmful effects of chemical fertilizers and expressed interest in adopting organic farming practices. Practical demonstrations on composting techniques received enthusiastic feedback, with many farmers eager to try these methods.

The participation of Botany and History students of St. Xavier's College, Mahuadarn, helped strengthen the bond between the local community, encouraging a valuable exchange of knowledge. Students also developed important community outreach skills, enhancing their abilities and sense of responsibility

Title of the Programme: Cleanliness Drive in Ahirpurwa Village (UBA)

Organizing department: Department of Geography and Eco Club and NSS Unit

Name of the Coordinator: Assistant Professor Shephali Prakash (Coordinator, Eco Club)

Assistant Professor Dr. Areful Hoque

Assistant Professor Rozy Sushmita Tirkey

Date / duration: 16th April, 2025

Number of Participants: 56 Students and 3 Staff

Objectives of the Event: A charitable awareness and donation program was organized in Ahirpurwa Village to promote cleanliness and female hygiene among the villagers. The initiative was carried out by the Department of Geography with active participation from students, volunteers, and residents.

Details Description of the Event: On 16th April 2025, the Department of Geography organized a charitable awareness and donation program in Ahirpurwa village, intending to promote cleanliness and female hygiene among the villagers under (UBA) Scheme. As part of the event, Akancha XaXa and Alka Kujur, students from First Year, delivered impactful speeches focusing on the importance of cleanliness, safe sanitation practices, and menstrual hygiene. These speeches were aimed particularly at educating women and adolescent girls, helping to break taboos and encourage open conversation around female health and hygiene. To support the cause practically, hygiene materials such as brooms and hand wash bottles were distributed to villagers, especially to families from underprivileged backgrounds. In total, 35 brooms and bottles of hand wash were handed out, empowering households to begin maintaining cleanliness immediately. A local health worker was also present to answer questions related to menstrual hygiene and general sanitation.

Outcome of the Event: The villagers showed great interest and involvement throughout the program, especially the women, who appreciated the information shared and the support provided. The event was a collective success in encouraging better hygiene habits, creating awareness, and fostering a sense of responsibility toward maintaining a clean village environment. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to all the donors, students, local leaders, and volunteers who contributed to making this initiative impactful and meaningful.

- 3. Date/Duration: 16th April, 2025
- 4. Venue: Aunratoli Alias Khapartola
- 5. Objective: To empower the group, enhance collaboration, provide essential resources, promote skill development, foster community engagement, and build resilience, ultimately strengthening the village's social fabric and improving overall well-being.
- 6. Detail description of the Event:

On April 16, 2025, the Mathematics and Hindi departments, along with the NSS Committee of St. Xavier's College, visited Aunratoli Alias Khapartola village as part of the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan initiative. This program aims to bridge the gap between urban and rural communities by fostering sustainable development and enhancing the quality of life in villages.

During our visit, we engaged with community members who gathered to discuss their needs and the challenges they face. This open dialogue was crucial in understanding the specific issues affecting the village, such as access to resources, educational materials, and community support. The villagers expressed their desire for items that could facilitate community gatherings and enhance their daily lives.

Based on these discussions, we identified essential items for donation, including a drum, dari, and tripal. The drum will serve as a tool for community events and celebrations, fostering a sense of unity and cultural expression. The dari (a type of mat) will provide a comfortable space for gatherings, meetings, and educational activities, while the tripal (a tarpaulin) will offer protection from the elements during events and gatherings.

This initiative aims not only to address the immediate needs of the village but also to enhance community welfare and promote collaboration among residents. By providing these essential items, we hope to strengthen the social fabric of Aunratoli Alias Khapartola, encouraging community members to come together for various activities and initiatives.

- To explain and practice the importance of cleanliness in the village.
- To increase green cover through tree plantation.
- To connect students with social responsibility.

8. Program Details:

On 16th April 2025, a one-day environmental protection and cleanliness program was organized in Aavratoili village by the Hindi and Mathematics Department of St. Xavier's College, Mahuadanr under the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan. The program started with a discussion in which Max Sir, Abhay Sir and Karishma Maam informed the villagers about environmental issues, water crisis and the impact of cleanliness.

After this, water drums were distributed among the villagers so that they can implement rainwater harvesting in their homes. Also, fruit and shade trees were planted in the village, such as mango, lemon, guava and neem plants. Some village volunteers were assigned the responsibility to take care of the plants.

Students and teachers gave the message of cleanliness by cleaning the streets and community places of the village. The participation of the village people was encouraging throughout the program.

9. Outcomes:

Awareness towards environmental protection and cleanliness increased among the villagers. Concrete steps were taken towards water conservation, such as distribution of water drums. More than 30 plants were planted in the village, which will help in environmental balance in future.
